Savvy Training & Consulting Joins the NetDocuments Channel Partner Program and Becomes Certified as a NetDocuments Training Partner

August 24, 2015, DENVER, Colo. – Savvy Training & Consulting, a leading provider of software training services and training content to law firms and legal departments since 1997, announced today that it has formally joined the NetDocuments Channel Partner Program and has also become Certified as a NetDocuments Training Partner.

"The NetDocuments cloud-based platform has incredible potential in the legal industry. As I have watched NetDocuments grow, and especially by being on-site at the most recent NetDocuments Partner Summit, I was highly impressed at their ability to deliver quality service and support with an amazing platform and infrastructure. As a training company, Savvy Training endeavors to stay ahead of the curve and support our clients in various meaningful ways. For Document Management Systems, NetDocuments is that way," said Doug Striker, President and CEO of Savvy Training. "Savvy is looking forward to supporting existing and future clients not only with top-notch training for lawyers, law firms and professional staff, but also with experience in migrating a firm from their existing DMS or no DMS to NetDocuments ."

"We are thrilled to have Savvy Training join our global community of certified partners," said Steve Moulton, Partner Program Manager at NetDocuments. "Law firms continue to see the true value of modern cloud-based technology and partners like Savvy Training are critical in our efforts to educate, sell, and implement our leading document and email management solutions. Savvy brings specialized experience in the legal field and up-to-date knowledge of legal technology that will be a tremendous asset to our growing partner ecosystem."
